My Dear Darlings Liana
Pat & Fay.

Well we are at sea again for about just over two weeks the few days we got in port soon fly past. My Pat and I had a very nice Sunday afternoon and evening out with some people, by day the people we went with before were away for the weekend, so I did not see them. Went out for a car ride for about forty miles all around the country then came back and had tea or supper as they call it out here, then we sat talking playing games and hearing the news on the radio and also a few talks by some yanks and we got back to the ship just before twelve midnight. The night before we went to the pictures and saw "The York. West Mounted" a coloured picture very good indeed.

Liana I'll send you a pound of sugar and butter from ashore when we get back for we are allowed to buy it ashore and post it from the ship, so that will help you out with your ration, for I don't like to know that we've got plenty here and that you have to go short out there, mine just found
